Catapult

From the editor

Kia ora readers,

I hope all is as well as it can be and you are all getting through this second round of lockdown/self-isolation/quarantine, whatever the case may be for you, without too much stress. .

More pieces are being written about the impact COVID has had on libraries so I tried to put together an interesting and hopefully relevant group of articles and resources (pages 10-11).

In this issue we have a feature article that covers the upcoming Kohacon conference in October which sounds like an informative multi-day event with a variety of content.

Please reach out with any feedback or if you have any suggestions or content to contribute to the next issue coming in December.

Take care,

Sara

CatSIG News—

CatSIG professional development day (Joanne Rowan)

During to the current changing Covid situation and the difficulty in getting approval for travel, CatSIG is exploring the option of offering our Professional Development day as a series of weekly one hour sessions during October via Zoom. We will sent out more details about this shortly. We are hoping to offer a face to face event of some sort next year. We are aware that cataloguers enjoy the chance to network with each other at these events, if anyone has any suggestions about an online networking opportunity we can organise please let us know at catsigcommittee@gmail.com.

ORDAC update (Anoushka McGuire)

The LIANZA CatSIG representatives on the Oceania RDA Committee (ORDAC), Chris Todd and Anoushka McGuire, continue to contribute to the work of the RDA Steering Committee (RSC). While headspace for RDA policy thinking has been at a premium, we still managed to support the Oceania Representative to the RDA Steering Committee (RSC), Melissa Parent, to represent our Region at the RSC Asynchronous Meetings in April and July.

The agenda and papers discussed are available on the New RSC Documents 2020 page. The minutes from the April meeting have been posted and the minutes for the July meeting will be posted here shortly too.

The annual face-to-face meeting of the RSC that had been scheduled for October 2020 at the National Library of Israel has now been replaced by a two week virtual meeting. See the announcement on the RSC site for more detail and keep an eye out for the agenda which should be available in mid-September.

Kohacon: Seven days of professional development for libraries (Tosca Waerea) ♦

Kohacon2020 takes place Monday 19th October— Sunday 25th October

Koha is a free and open source library system that was founded in Horowhenua, New Zealand in 1999. Initially a solution to the Y2K bug, Chris Cormack states that, "We decided to make it open source so that hopefully other people in the world would start using it as well." Implemented in more than 15,000 libraries today, Koha is an international project with thousands of volunteers contributing to its ongoing development. This year, Catalyst is excited to be hosting Kohacon, the annual conference of the Koha community, in Wellington.

Kohacon 2020 guest speakers hail from Australia, Bangladesh, Canada, England, Finland, France, New Zealand, Pakistan, Turkey, and the USA and each offer an exciting range of professional development opportunities for libraries, regardless of their library management system.

Kohacon2020 will be a hybrid conference with presentations both in-person and online. The conference will go ahead online, regardless of what 'alert level' we are in. We hope to see as many NZ speakers and delegates as possible in person at the Tiakiwai Conference Centre venue at the National Library of New Zealand in Wellington, from where talks and workshops will be streamed online. Koha Services Manager at Catalyst NZ, Kathryn Tyree, points out, "A recent Koha webinar received over 4,000 views, so we are expecting a lot of international engagement. Especially given so many of our colleagues are currently working from home. It looks like Kohacon will be the biggest professional development opportunity for librarians this year."

Highlights from the programme include:

People:

♦ 46 libraries, 15 groups, 1 consortium – so now what?—Lisette Scheer (Latah County Library District, USA) shares issues the Valnet consortium experienced and how they were resolved.

♦ Stronger through integration—Kristina Hoeppner (Catalyst IT, NZ) brainstorms integration ideas to connect Koha to learning management systems.

♦ A patron, a librarian, and a developer walk into a bar—Myka Kennedy Stephens (Lancaster Theological Seminary, USA) discusses the need to keep libraries and patrons at the forefront of future development.

♦ Unique Koha co-operation —Ari Mäkiranta (Koha-Suomi, Finland) and Esa-Pekka Keskitalo (The National Library of Finland, Finland) look at co-operation between Finnish libraries across sectors and how this relationship shapes development.

♦ Postcards from a ledge—Sonny Tamihana (Whanganui District Library, NZ) shares why they're going it alone and loving it.

♦ World's best libraries—Rebekka Pilppula (Turku City Library, Finland) provides insight into the success of Finnish public libraries.

♦ Catalyst Academy —Ian Beardslee (Catalyst IT, NZ) talks about Catalyst's inspiring Open Source Academy, an initiative designed to provide training and work experience for young NZ technologists. (A possible blueprint for a worldwide programme?)

• Teamwork - we have your back! — Kelly McElligott (ByWater Solutions, USA) and Jessica Zairo (ByWater Solutions, USA) talk about the inception of their educational tutorials, Monday Minutes.

Technology:

• William Tuttiett (Libraries Horowhenua) highlights their website redesign by William Tuttiett

• Koha as a central catalog: Mengü Yazıcıoğlu (Devinim, Turkey) offers insight into how Turkey, the world's biggest Koha install with 1,100+ public libraries, shares bibliographic data between systems.

• From a manual to a documentation portal: David Nind (NZ) discusses the future of Koha documentation.

• Web accessibility by Julius Charles Serrano (Catalyst IT, NZ)

• Sonia Bouis (Jean Moulin University, France) will cover Europe's General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and look at anonymisation in this environment and what it means.

• Cataloguing plugins: Caroline Cyr La Rose (inLibro, Canada) talks about the purpose of the Koha plugin catalog, its use, and how you can contribute.

• Working with messy data— David Nind (NZ) offers a quick intro to Open Refine for tidying up messy data.

• Data, data, cup of tea: Jacinta Osman and Lee Rowe of Toi Ohomai Institute of Technology discuss the details of their implementation project.

• Got a hundred dollars? Get an ILS!: Fred King (MedStar Washington Hospital Center USA) shares how you can build a fully-functional ILS using Koha, a Raspberry PI 4, and Marc Edit for a total cost of less than USD $100.

• Wikidata: David Nind (NZ) offers a quick rundown on what libraries need to know about wikidata.

Workshops:

• Unicode and Perl - there is no escape: Grant McLean (Catalyst IT, NZ) will breakdown Unicode and Perl, and explore common pain points and tools you can use to deal with them.

• Documentation: David Nind (NZ) offers a hands-on practical session to help you get started on contributing to Koha documentation.

• Playing with Marc Edit: Farasat Shafi Ullah (Auckland Libraries, NZ) will walk you through understanding metadata editing challenges, strategies, and techniques.

• Linked data: A big draw card at every conference, Jonathan Hunt (Catalyst IT, NZ) provides an introduction to linked open data, including linked data principles and practices.

• The design dash: Donna Benjamin (Red Hat Labs, Australia) offers a super-fast introduction to design thinking methods and mindsets.

Please register your intention to attend online or in-person at: https://2020.kohacon.org/posts/registration/ In person seats are limited. Certificates of attendance will be issued.

Conference format

19 October – 21 October: A three-day single-track conference to be held at the National Library of New Zealand.

22 October: Cultural Day is a chance to see and do things that are unique to Wellington and the New Zealand library community. This is also an excellent chance to get to know each other better before working together in the coming days.

23 October: Workshops to learn new skills and improve existing ones.

24 October – 25 October: DIY Koha is an opportunity to brainstorm and exchange ideas, squash bugs, and work on new functionality. It may also include workshops, discussions, and hands-on demonstrations.

With any questions, please contact us at kohacon2020@catalyst.net.nz

Editorial Policy Committee mtg results (from the Dewey Blog) 6-31 July 2020

The Editorial Policy Committee meets in person once a year to review proposals to revise the DDC, but there are also periodic online meetings. The most recent online meeting, EPC 142B, took place from July 6-31, 2020. EPC reviewed six exhibits; you can find the full text of those proposals at oc.lc/deweyexhibits.

The results of EPC 142B:

EPC 142B-S00.1 Conspiracy theories: approved
EPC 142B-S20.1 Witchcraft: approved with two changes:
    Added a new class-elsewhere note at 299.675 for hoodoo not presented as religious practice, replacing existing see-also note
    Added Relative Index term "Hoodoo—religious practice" to 299.675
EPC 142B-S28.1 Pentecostalism: approved with one change:
    Changed caption of 269.4 to "Pentecostalism and charismatic movement"
EPC 142B-S35.1 Space forces: approved
EPC 142B-S64.1 Fermented foods and drinks: approved with three changes:
    Changed caption at 641.46 to "Pickling, smoking, other forms of chemical preservation"
    Added a new class-here note at 641.46 for comprehensive works on chemical preservation
    Instead of just one base number for side dishes made with a specific food derived from plant crops and domesticated animals (641.811), created separate base numbers for side dishes from plant crops and domesticated animals (641.8113-641.8117) and from game, seafood, miscellaneous foods (641.8119)
EPC 142B-S79.1 BASE jumping: approved

Metadata & Cataloguing—I complied this list of 60+ metadata, cataloguing related accounts. I aimed to include only active accounts that post content relevant to New Zealand and greater Oceania. I would love your input—do you have any accounts you like to follow that are not included in this list, or have you made your own list you would like to share?
