Cataloguing News

CatSIG news

CatSIG AGM minutes

The CatSIG AGM was held on 25th September at the LIANZA conference at the Addington Raceway & Events Centre in Christchurch.

<https://lianza.org.nz/sites/default/files/CatSIG%20annual%20general%20meeting%20minutes%202017.pdf>

New committee members required

CatSIG is looking for a couple more committee members after 2 members stepped down at the AGM. We would like to thank Marilyn Edwards and Rebecca Dames for their contribute to the committee over the last 2 years. This is a great opportunity to assist with providing professional development for New Zealand cataloguers.

Under our terms of reference we can have up to 3 members on the ORDAC committee. Are you interested in joining Chris Todd and Anoushka McGuire on this committee and having your say about the future development to RDA?

If you are interested in joining either committee please contact Joanne Rowan jf.rowan@auckland.ac.nz.

LIANZA conference sponsorship

CatSIG sponsored Kate Ayre from Parkyn Library Whitecliffe College of Art & Design to attend the conference. Read her report in the next issue of Catapult.

Expression of interest in an RDA original cataloguing webinar

The closing date has been extended by a week to enable more people time to put in an expression of interest. We need indicators of interest from more people, as we haven't meet the minimum 10 people required to run this course.

CatSIG is looking at the possibility of offering a webinar series from Farkas Training in Australia to provide some RDA training in November. There is the possibility of follow up sessions next year with either face-to-face or additional webinar training on the 'look and feel' of the upgraded RDA toolkit (which will be released in late April).

The webinar series is based on the two-day 'Cataloguing the RDA Way' course, and covers the same material in a series of five 2-hour sessions, offered on alternate days between 20 and 29 November. Participants will receive electronic copies of the manual, and a set of exercises they will be asked to do in their own time between sessions. Each session comprises a review of the exercises from the previous webinar, the time and ability to forward questions and obtain answers online, and the new material presented with the aid of powerpoint slides and the Toolkit. Participants will be given access to the Toolkit for the duration of the series.

Cataloguing the RDA way

The course focuses on practical cataloguing using the RDA Toolkit and instruction sets. All aspects of RDA are covered in the detail need to create complete bibliographic records.

The Trainers, Lynn Farkas and Helen Rowe are experienced cataloguers, qualified trainers and designated RDA trainers. In the last three years, Helen and Lynn have delivered webinars and face-to-face RDA training to many hundreds of librarians and technician cataloguers across Australia. They also teach cataloguing online to undergraduate and masters students in the School of Information Studies, Charles Sturt University, and have written workbooks on cataloguing and reference services in the 'Learn Library Skills' series published by TotalRecall Press, USA.*

Gaining more familiarity with the toolkit now will assist with understanding and using the revised toolkit when it is released next year.

We need a minimum of 10 people for the webinars to go ahead.

The cost would be NZ$500.

Can you please email catsigcommittee@gmail.com if you are interested in participating in this webinar series. The closing date for expressions of interest is 6 October.

LIANZA's new code of conduct

What does this mean for CatSIG?

Under the new code, we are required to hold 4 events per year, either face to face or online. One of these events is the AGM.

Please give us your suggestions on the type of events you would like us to host. Send any suggestions to catsigcommittee@gmail.com

Cataloguers' Day 2018

CatSIG is planning on running a Cataloguers' Day in September/October 2018 in conjunction with our AGM. We have some suggestions at the AGM on possible topics we could cover. These included:

- Number building in Dewey
- Tips and helpful hints on getting the most out of your Library Management System, with a segment on each of the main Library Management Systems.

If you have any suggestions about what you would like to see at the next Cataloguers' Day, please send them through to catsigcommittee@gmail.com.
